

THE 3D INSTRUCTION

Are you looking for a cost effective way of training your staff?

Do you have a team of teachers with great potential but who need clear direction?

Are you a new or existing school owner determined to have an excellent crop of teachers?

INTRODUCTION

This training uses a mentoring model to support the professional development of school staff. As a result of this course, school owners or their designated teachers will become competent to lead teaching and learning using British and global standards. This encapsulates innovative strategies that motivate students to high achievement. This training will increase the effectiveness of all participants.

Teachers or a member of your school leadership team who participates in the course can opt to certify as a Golden Links Mentor. This mentor will be licenced to use the course training materials to train curriculum staff in their school team.

- This will ensure that there is synergy across the curriculum team, ensuring all your teachers are at least at the same level in their understanding of the core of the profession.
- Staff will be equipped to an international standard of teaching.
- The ripple effect is that your students graduate with better grades and their student learning experience is enhanced.

WHO IS THIS PROGRAM FOR?

- This program is for school owners who have transitioned into education.
- For staff who have been approved by their school leadership team to be responsible for mentoring and training new staff.
- Any teacher who is keen on investing into their professional development and might want to mentor other colleagues.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This is an online teacher development and certification training program. It aims to equip participants with knowledge, skills and resources to enable them to practice the 3 dimensions of engaging instruction. This training has been designed and benchmarked against international standards. It is delivered by a British trained expert in education and management. It is a trainer certification course themed the 3 Dimensional Instruction. This explores the three dimensions of instruction pivotal for effective teaching, embedding recent research in neurosciences and theories in education. It is based on the fundamentals of teaching and learning encapsulated in the teaching cycle. The main focus are the dimensions of;

Lesson
Planning

Lesson
Delivery

Lesson
Assessment

Training can only ever be as good as the trainer who delivers it. This is why you need us to support you with this task. Many times as a Principal, you might be unhappy with the output of your staff. Before you take the harsh line of disciplinary, you need to check: is the issue competence or compliance. You are only justified to say they missed the mark when they know the mark. The train the trainer program is a cost effective way of training all your staff on the fundamentals of teaching using the mentoring model.
